JOB DESCRIPTION: The project aims to understand the structure and function of proteins involved in human diseases. Results are expected to provide a platform to design selective inhibitors that may ultimately be developed into new therapeutics. For information on the laboratory see: http://biochemistry.okstate.edu/faculty/dr.-junpeng-deng/dr.-junpeng-deng.

Minimum requirements are: a Ph.D. in Biochemistry or a related science; experience with molecular biology and protein over-expression in a variety of cells; experience with crystallography and protein structure determination; good oral and written communication skills; and the ability to work independently. This is a full-time, 11-month non-tenure track position. Initial appointment will be for one year, but could be renewable upon satisfactory progress and continued funding.

APPLICATION PROCESS: Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applicant materials should include a letter indicating interest, qualifications and experience; curriculum vitae; a list of three (3) names, with telephone numbers and e-mail address who may be contacted for additional information. Submit applications electronically to https://jobs.okstate.edu. Search for req2996. If an applicant is unable to submit materials electronically, please call (405) 744-5523.

Oklahoma State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/E-verify employer committed to diversity and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against based on age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, genetic information, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or other protected category. OSU is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and desires priority referrals of protected veterans for its openings. OSU will not discharge or in any other manner discriminate against employees or applicants because they have inquired about, discussed, or disclosed their own pay or the pay of another employee or applicant. However, employees who have access to the compensation information of other employees or applicants as a part of their essential job functions cannot disclose the pay of other employees or applicants to individuals who do not otherwise have access to compensation information, unless the disclosure is (a) in response to a formal complaint or charge, (b) in furthermore of an investigation, proceeding, hearing, or action, including an investigation conducted by the employer, or (c) consistent with the contractor’s legal duty to furnish information. 41 CFR 60-1.35(c)